About ICF Philadelphia

ICF Philadelphia was founded in 1998 and was formerly known as the Philadelphia Area Coaching Alliance. With more than 170 members and 475 affiliate coaches, it has become the professional resource for both coaches and clients alike. Members' practices are focused on executive coaching, corporate coaching, business coaching, group coaching, individual coaching, health coaching, life coaching and more.

Monthly programs feature networking opportunities as well as educational forums. Coaches are able to embrace best practices and stay abreast of trends affecting the coaching industry and the potential impact on their clients.

A coaching registry can help you select the coach with expertise that best suits your needs. Go to www.philadelphiacoaches.org to handpick an excellent professional to support you through your phase of desired change.

About ICF interpretation

The ICF is the leading global organization for coaches, with over 19,000 members in more than 90 countries that are dedicated to advancing the coaching profession. High ethical standards are met, independent certification provided and there is a worldwide network of credentialed coaches offering quality services to their clients. The ICF is the only organization that awards a global credential which is currently held by over 5700 coaches worldwide.
